Cover Reveal

And Felix and Kla are the Stars!

Yes, it's finally here! The Hybridian Way's very own book cover has arrived and it is gorgeous! I'm so pleased with what they did with Kla. Felix might be the main character, but most people know how to portray a human. Alien women with 'head spines' instead of hair, not so much.

But she looks amazing! And from the sounds of things, this is the last big hurdle before we go to print! I'll keep you updated with release dates, but it's looking like it'll be soon~!

New Art Classes on Skillshare

Learning to Draw for Beginning Artists

Two new classes are now available on Skillshare. Learning to Draw: The Basic Forms and Thinking with Your Hands: Improving Your Sketchwork with Simple Exercises both are designed to help new artists build their drawing skills.

Lay your foundations in the art of drawing with Learning to Draw by learning the ins and outs of the four basic forms that make up our world: the cube, cylinder, cone, and sphere. While in Thinking with Your Hands I cover some basic exercises for sketching, such as gesture drawings for capturing movement and timed exercises for warming up your fingers. Each class is geared toward beginning artists and covers the different supplies and different methods of how to use them.

If you're interested in watching either (or both!) classes, all you need is a Skillshare account and an hour or so to watch. As a teacher I get a little extra pay if you use one of the referral links in the sidebar to watch my class.
